Water and sewer rates may jump 35% next year

BELLE GLADE - Three of Belle Glade's city commissioners agreed in a workshop session Tuesday night that an increase of around 35 percent in water and sewer rates is almost a certainty.

City Finance Director Frank Anderson told Mayor Tom Altman and Commissioners Ralph Kirk and Claude Tindall that the city has little choice in the matter.

Anderson noted that the sewer and water funds have been running a deficit of more than $200,000 annually for the past several years and because of this, bonding difficulties have arisen.

Anderson noted some of the reasons for the deficit in the water and sewer funds in the past several years were large increases in electric rates, increasing costs for chemicals and the shut-down of Quaker Oats each summer, a major city water user.

The deficit has been made up from the Replacement and Rehabilitation (R&R) funds and from federal revenue sharing and other federal money.

But because of the deficits, the city's water and sewer bondholders have grown concerned that the city could default on bond payments.

Anderson said he had been on the telephone almost constantly since Monday discussing the problem with various bondholders and had explained the situation to them.

He noted that the city has never defaulted in a bond payment and that it would continue to meet its obligations. The bondholders were told that the R&R funds were used to make up the deficit because they had not been used for anything else for many years.

However, said Anderson, although the bondholders seemed satisfied with the explanation, the grading system for bonds could be effected because the city does not "break even" on water and sewer rates.

Anderson said it was felt the city's bonds would be given an "investment" grade but the grade could possibly be improved if the city raised its water and sewer rates.

A lower graded bond will cost the city more in interest, he said. This would affect future bond sales.

Anderson said what was needed was a direction from the commission on the rate question. He noted he would be in contact with bondholders beginning Wednesday morning and if he could tell them the feeling of the commission was to raise the rates, the "investment" grade could be improved.

City Manager Robert Sanders told the three commissioners he had asked for a 50 percent increase in water and sewer rates during the last budget sessions. But the commission had only granted a 15 percent increase and said they may add another 15 percent this year.

Sanders said the situation has not changed... the 50 percent increase (total) is still needed and to make up for that, an increase of about 35 percent would have to be done this year.

"It appears we have no alternative," said Commissioner Kirk. "The rates should have been raised beginning ten years ago."

The other two city officials agreed with him and agreed that the increase would almost certainly have to be carried out.

Belle Glade's water and sewer rates are the lowest in the area, Sanders noted.

The rate increase will be proposed during the upcoming budget retreat, scheduled to be held July 22 and 23.

SPEDY slots filled

SOUTH BAY - City Commissioners decided Tuesday night the city would hire one third of the 75 SPEDY employees approved for the area after local Palm Beach County Housing Authority supervisor Johnny Webb made a plea to hire disadvantaged youth in South Bay.

The commissioners had already agreed to take 24 of the youths under the summer employment program before Webb made his plea, pointing out he had already made a commitment to hire 18 although his ~~base~~ had only wanted to hire 15.

One from CETA and the Urban League were present when City Clerk Virginia Walker read the agreement with the Urban League to the commissioners and the only question which came up was when City Attorney James Gann expressed some doubt about the arrangements for insuring the summer workers.

Commissioner Don Tanner moved to approve the agreement subject to Gann's approval of the insurance arrangements. When Webb said he thought the city could hire more than 25 of the youths for the summer, he picked out the streets and parks department. "Anyone could work there with very little supervision," he said.

Public Utilities Director Lomax Harrelle, who had already provisionally agreed to take ten of the workers, said that if the workers this year, "work out like the last two years, I don't want any."

Harrelle said three weeks ago, when the proposal was first made, he was against hiring SPEDY workers this summer because he was dissatisfied with the performance of workers in the past, saying he had little or no control over them.

Mrs. Walker and Commissioner Vermita Cox said, however, they felt the program was being administered differently this year and the city would have more control.

Mrs. Cox in particular said she felt that since Barbara Kight is in charge this year, the program would be run more efficiently.

In other business, the commission:

• Approved a budget revision suggested at the last regular meeting and detailed in a workshop session which brings the city's books in line with what was described as standard accounting procedures.

CHRISTIAN DAY SCHOOL Graduates Pam Mathis and Lisbet Lutz leave the gym after the graduation ceremony last Thursday evening where the twenty-three members of the 1978 senior class received their diplomas.

CDS graduates 23

BELLE GLADE - Last Thursday evening the 1978 graduating class of Christian Day School held its commencement exercises in the school gym.

Class Salutatorian Rossana Alvarez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Alvarez of Belle Glade, welcomed the parents, friends and relatives assembled for the ceremony. Valedictorian Judy Clayton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clayton bid them farewell.

This year's class was privileged to have, according to the Rev. John Stedham, CDS principal, two students that by coincidence were both from Ecuador.

They are Ines Monserrath Altman, Monse, and Paula Medina. Monse came to Belle Glade by means of a student exchange program and Paula is staying with relatives. Both young ladies have graduated from high school and their purpose here was to learn English and American customs. Monse and Paula received certificates of recognition for their outstanding contributions to the school with their friendliness and friendship.

Zoning ordinance talks set

BELLE GLADE - In a workshop session Tuesday night, the Belle Glade City Commission agreed to begin discussions of the proposed re-written subdivision and development codes next Wednesday night.

Following work on these two codes, the city will begin work on the zoning ordinance and city zoning map.

The codes, ordinance and map were reworked by a ten-member Rewrite Committee which has been working on them for the past several months.

The committee was composed of citizens, members of the Planning Board, and city officials.

Mayor Tom Altman described the codes and ordinance as the "most major pieces of legislation the commission has taken up since we've been on the board. They are very, very important to the city."

In anticipation of the workshops, City Manager Robert Sanders will draw up an outline of major changes to be presented to each of the commissioners.

John David Chamblee, chairman of the school's education committee, and Doris Miller, senior class sponsor, presented the diplomas to the 23 seniors.

As the graduates came on the stage, each presented his or her mother a red rose with a blue and white ribbon, the school colors, as a symbol of appreciation.

After the graduation a reception was held at the church's hall.

Chamber building site okayed

BELLE GLADE - The Belle Glade City Commission and the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors agreed Tuesday night to a new site for the proposed Chamber building in the Municipal Complex.

The old location for the building was to be on the corner of Avenue E and Main Street, but Mayor Tom Altman said he was still not in favor of that site because of limited access.

On a map of the complex, he pointed out the site he preferred, the area off Municipal Drive on the east side of City Hall facing Main.

Fred Johns, Chamber Building Committee chairman, presented a map of the old location and after discussion about it, including the city's okay to a drive and parking area, the tide of the discussion turned toward the new site.

Commissioner Ralph Kirk agreed with Altman that the other site was better and Chamber directors Charlie Trammell, Dale Stapp and John Turnbull asked about parking and access off Main and were told there was plenty available, including on-road parking on Main.

"In anticipation of this," said John, "we had another plan drawn up" and produced another drawing showing the proposed building in the new location.

After further discussion, the commission and chamber decided the new location would be more desirable and agreed to go ahead with the second set of plans.

The proposed building is 25x56 feet and will be built by the city with the Chamber paying $150 per month rent until the building's cost is paid out.

The commission noted the design of the building would blend with other buildings in the complex.

In still another building discussion, the commission tentatively agreed to budget another $15,000 this year to be included with the $15,000 budgeted last year for library renovations.

City Building Inspector Ken Retterer had estimated the costs of the renovation to be $31,937.50 and would include closing off the present entrance and building a new entryway facing into the Municipal Complex.

The library would also be "facelifted" to blend in with other Municipal buildings, said City Planner John Gubisch.

The commission agreed to go ahead and accept bids on the renovation.

In other business during the workshop session, City Attorney John Baker noted that in the suit filed against the city and others by Florida Interconnect he had contacted attorney Robert L. Edwards of Miami and discussed with him becoming an associate attorney for the city in the case. Florida Interconnect has filed the suit saying anti-trust laws were violated by Belle Glade.

A BEAUTIFICATION AWARD is presented to Belle Glade Elementary cleanup chairman Margaret West and Principal Harry Davis by Chamber of Commerce Secretary Jewel Crane and Joseph Byrd of Gove Elementary School. The award will be held by the local school for the next year, earning it after Gove has held it the past two years. "This is important," Davis said, "because it teaches the kids the importance of cleanliness at school, at home and on the streets."

It's had enough to have to lose by a few lousy points but when the Kiwanis "in resident" reporter spreads it all over the Palm Beach Times, that's rubbing it in a bit deep.

Yep, the Belle Glade Rotarians have lost again to the "junior" club of the Glades. If you'll remember, due to an unavoidable mishap, the Rotary Club was passed by the Kiwanis during the 50th Anniversary Celebration raft race.

And that was after leading all other civic groups around the course for three quarters of the distance. The mishap occurred when the Rotarians ran around in 11 feet of water.

Wednesday night, the long-awaited challenge softball game between the Kiwanis and Rotary finally occurred. So stand back, Howard Cosell! I'm gonna lay a game account on you that'll turn Phyllis George's hair purple.

Both teams were not at 100 percent when they came on the field. But the Kiwanis looked mean and tough and unswerving in their desire to put the Rotary down one more time.

Missing were the star players Chester Mullis and Jack Shaffer and some of the others didn't have the Kiwanis' look about them.

(Check that, Bob White. Next time, get a membership list and check off players. Think they might have snuck in a few fingers on us.)

Then again, the strong Rotary team was also missing some of the colorful and exciting rookies drafted to the team in the latest player pick...including Terry Kirckman and Charlie Trammell. (Charlie did come, but he didn't even venture out of his car when he saw the slaughter.)

Finally, the game was on...and thank heaven it wasn't nationally televised.

The Rotary was first up...and first down. But not before they got off to a strong start with two runs on their side of the scoreboard.

For this narrative, we'll not mention the rest of the first or all of the second, third, fourth, or fifth innings, except to point out a few of the highlights.

Rotary Coach Buddy Sizemore didn't do the team full justice. He should have known not to put me on second base. The Rotarians were astonished when I missed that first easy popout, but the fact of the case was it was swatted by Gilbert Alvarez and there ain't no way I'm gonna sideline an advertiser.

I even let him tag me out at third a few innings later. Fiancee sure is good for a page a week or so now.

We will say that if Roy Whitehurst hadn't fallen down he would not have been thrown out at first and John Pitts really did catch that ball in left field, even though the mud splattered just as his glove went down for the grab.

The top of the sixth saw the Rotarians rally and put two more runs on the scoreboard. And the seventh! It will be the inning long remembered in the club's history. Led by the fielding of Sizemore and Pitts and the strong first baseman Robert Hooker, it was three up and three down.

That'll always be fondly recalled. But the score? Not the score. We won't mention the score.

The score has already been mentioned enough, thank you. Kiwanian Chuck McClinton saw to that by spreading it all over the Times for all Palm Beach County to read.

In 19-point boldface type spanning two columns; he made sure it was readily visible "Kiwanis win challenge softball game". There followed an account of the game that was patently one-sided.

Reflecting on the game, it is a fair assumption that the Rotarians now know they were tricked into a short, seven inning game.

We'd have caught them in a couple more. Or as Earnie McCrem noted "We'll wait 'em down. By the way, what time do you guys have to go to work tomorrow?"

Australian pines must go

With the official opening of the hurricane season last Thursday, and a resolution passed last week by the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce, this would seem a good time to address the problem of those Australian Pines lining highways in the Glades.

We've talked about those pines (actually, we hear they're really Brazilian Oaks but we're not botanists or horticulturists) on more than one occasion and it seems to have been largely a waste of space.

But recently we noticed the Department of Transportation included in a bid to resurface US 441 from Hooker Highway to SR 15 in Pahokee the job of removing the trees along that stretch of the highway so the cries of more than a few people may be reaching the right ears after all.

In the meantime, should this prove to be the season when another major hurricane strikes the area, those trees could prove to be the death trap of more than a few people.

As one person said recently, the idea of the eye of a hurricane passing over to blow the trees first in one direction and then another is more than a trifle disturbing.

Should the directions be just so, the first winds could put a number of the trees in the canals and then whip back to put more on the roads.

The trees in the canals would stop the flow of water out of the area, resulting in a flood which could reach the proportions of the 1928 killer hurricane, with the added danger of the trees on the road stopping traffic out of the area.

It could easily mean a major flood with no way out for the victims and no way in for rescue workers.

Granted, that's the worst that could happen but it certainly isn't all.

What is now happening is that every major wind storm that touches the area brings down trees and limbs on the roads, some striking trucks and cars.

It's amazing no one has actually been killed yet by that windblown debris but our good fortune can't continue indefinitely.

Those trees have got to come down and it's time we addressed ourselves to the problem.

Tax rebellion

The California vote Tuesday to put a cap of one percent tax on the assessed property value of homeowners is symptomatic of a growing tax revolt around the country which should have the attention of politicians on every level from city commissioners to Congress.

People are tired of paying excess taxes for unneeded programs and a growing roll of state legislatures which have called for a special Constitutional convention to force the federal government to live within its income is almost long enough to become effective.

People are tired of deficit spending by their "leaders" which already is causing the interest alone on the federal debt to climb at a rate of $85,000 a minute.

People are so tired of paying heavy taxes to support programs they no longer believe in, if they ever did, they're lending an ear to chancy fund-raising programs to which they would normally object on moral grounds, such as casino gambling and state lotteries.

Thomas Jefferson wrote at one point in his life he believed that to keep the United States free, a revolution would be required every 20 years.

He was thankfully wrong about the timing but if the general mood around the country is reaching us in anything like its true perspective, a tax revolution is overdue and possibly just around the corner.

California may be sounding the shot heard round the world and if it is, then we betide the politicians now in office...especially if they try to stand in the way.

On Saturday, the Belle Glade School Safety Patrol enjoyed an all day outing to Lido Pool in West Palm Beach. The trip was made possible for the boys by Police Chief Pennington in appreciation of the fine work they have done in the school area since the Patrol was organized last March. Officer Charles Goodlett chaperoned the group.

In a meeting of the Patrol Wednesday afternoon, plans for a safety campaign during the next school year were outlined, and a gift was presented by the Patrol committee of the PTA to Jimmy Ball for his excellent work in the capacity of Patrol Captain.

The summer schedule of softball will open at Memorial Athletic Field, on next Monday night, June 14, at 7:45. There will be three-five inning games played between league teams.

Coach Cooke states that he has been forming a four team league among school youths and is working on a similar league for the school girls.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

If this be the graduation season, can advice to the graduates be far off? Not so's you can tell it, by without further ado or so much as a pomp or circumstance let's get with the program.

First of all, that sheepskin ain't really sheepskin any more. Seems we're running short of sheep as well as everything else the schools have been among the first to feel the crunch.

Second, that imitation sheepskin plus a quarter can still get you a cup of coffee, at least in some places; in others you have to add a dime or maybe even another quarter. That's called inflation.

The first quarter won't be enough to buy a Coke in most places but it is almost enough to buy a beer in some of your more reputable gin mills, which brings us to the next point.

Should the budding young graduate frequent said gin mills, he might find a phenomenon peculiar to the real world. About the time he bellies up to the bar and shoves aside some trucker nursing his own beer, said trucker may shove back.

This is an important lesson. That trucker ain't your daddy, boy, and believe it or don't he don't love you. Moral: a gin mill ain't the family nest and the barkeep ain't Mama or Papa so it's best to mind one's P's and Q's.

Now for the really important tips a fledgling leaving the nest needs to fledge his or her way through the world.

You're engaging in a certain contest of skill in Andrew's Billiards Parlor, sometimes known as Andy's Pool Room and you've just cleaned your buddy's plover when up steps a gent who offers to shoot you a dollar a game. You win the first game with a mixture of skill and cunning and he offers to take you on in a rematch for a dollar a point, casually walking over to rack the house's cue stick and pick up a slim case to break out a gold-mounted, leather-gripped ivory tipped stick and nonchalance screws it together while you make up your mind.

You can (a) agree with alacrity to go ahead and take the sucker to the cleaners; (b) realize you may be the sucker yourself and decline his offer on the grounds you suddenly realize this is your dying mother's birthday and you haven't been to see her since her last one; (c) observe what a grand day it is for a walk on the beach as you rack your own cue stick or (d) bolt for the nearest exit with the explanation your wife is having your eleventh baby so Glades General and you're expected to take you part in a LaMaze delivery.

And if you answered anything, but (a) you've shown some signs you deserve that sheepskin because you better believe that gent in the pin-stripe suit ain't taking you on to raise a few bucks.

Now, young gentlemen, I can say anything better than Aristotle about the first time your sweet young thing starts hinting two cave-ins as cheap as one, my sweet, and you've already arrived at the opinion that may be true as long as one of you don't eat.

When one of his students asked him about marriage, which Aristotle was known to shun, saying he'd met an olive-skinned beauty, the old sage wisely advised him, "by all means, go ahead and marry her. If she's a good woman, she'll probably make you a fine wife and you'll be very happy. If she's not, you'll become a philosopher and the world needs more philosophers."

And a few more words of advice about life in general:

• Anytime anyone offers you something for free, grab a double handful. If it turns out to be useless, you can always give it to someone else and gain a friend or throw it away.

• Remember the only two laws of economics worth remembering. There ain't no free lunch and there's no such thing as a free ride.

• The saddest sight on earth is someone rocking away on the porch of the old folks' home saying "Well, I could'a."

• It's better to be lucky than good.

• Advice is the cheapest thing in the world and that's just about what it's worth...and that applies to anything I've said here.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

The Belle Glade Garden Study Club is against the newly proposed system of garbage pickup.

Any monetary savings gained by this system would be offset by the loss of neighborhood beauty two days a week. And there are always those who either through handicap or neglect would leave the containers at point of pickup permanently.

Our City has worked for several years to improve the community by clean-ups and lovely plantings not to mention the new Municipal Complex. This garbage pickup system could well negate the progress thus far. We've all worked to make Belle Glade beautiful - let's keep it that way.

Sincerely,

AN OPEN LETTER TO MY PARENTS

The other day while looking through a periodical that comes to my office, I read a letter that was published. It was written by a man who is old enough to know his thoughts and to feel that he could write this without hurting anyone, since his parents are now dead. I would like to share it with you and pray that your children will never have the opportunity to write a letter like this.

I am your child. You have brought me into this world and raised me to what I am today. If I am not what I should be, please do not be too harsh with me, for I am your product, and by my actions I advertise the quality standards of home. Do not point at one of my playmates as an example of how I should behave; for by doing so you are admitting that they are doing a better job than you.

You say that you are a Christian; and yet when church time comes you make little effort to attend, giving me no encouragement to be in God's house either.

You say that you love me, and yet it has been years since you put your arms about me at bedtime and with tears in your eyes asked your heavenly Father to watch over me as I slept. You seem to be more interested in my school grades than in the condition of my eternal soul. You give me the impression that it is better to be popular than to be pure; better to

So the next time you feel like throwing up your hands and saying, "I just can't do a thing with you," please remember you have had the opportunity to influence me since I was born, and that the Bible says, "train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it" (Proverbs 22:6).

Auditorium to be for community

BELLE GLADE—The Palm Beach Junior College auditorium funded as a line item in the 1977-78 state budget approved by the legislature Friday is expected to serve the entire western Palm Beach County area according to PBJC-Glades Provost Dr. Conley.

Dr. Conley has been on vacation the past two weeks and missed out on a spate of rumors to the effect the auditorium had been killed in Tallahassee because it couldn't get sufficient support.

The rumors proved false, however, and when the budget was passed Friday, it included $586,747 to match with $200,000 donated by the county and approximately $100,000 which began with a $75,000 donation by the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida, Inc. and has grown to the $100,000 figure with interest.

The campus provost said he hopes to hear something official by the end of this week about the funding of the auditorium and stressed the facility is a community project which is expected to serve area schools, city functions and can even be rented out to private individuals as well as serve the interests of the school.

"What I'd like to see," he said, "is for the three communities (Belle Glade, South Bay and Pahokee) go together to put on productions of a number of types." He said that while the building doesn't include some original ideas such as a hydraulically lifted stage, because of cuts made on economics, it will still be a complete facility designed to seat 500 people in air conditioned comfort.

A NEW BIBLE...

for ME!

She really is delighted because her church is presenting her with a new Bible. She understands and appreciates this gift, because in earning it she has committed many verses to memory, and thus learned to value God's word. The churches desire that all would study and learn, to love God. Plan to attend church and share in this knowledge and joy.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His desire for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without man or society or way of life will long passers and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of his welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Miller-Monti vows are spoken May 5

BELLE GLADE—Miss Rebecca Lynn Miller and Oscar A. Monti, both of Belle Glade, were married May 5 in a double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church of Belle Glade with the Rev. Bob Atkins officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond I. Miller of Belle Glade. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Monti, also of Belle Glade.

The organist, Teryl Collier, played and sang "We've Only Just Begun."

The bride wore a long white gown and imported Venice gown with an emerald shaped bodice, featuring a Queen Anne neckline, with point-to wrist long sleeves, and a flared skirt falling to a chapel train. She wore a two tier fingertip veil edged with Venice lace with a lattice style flat Camelot headpiece and carried a cascade of marguerita daisies and baby's breath trimmed with white satin pequet love knotted ribbon.

The maid of honor, Chris Roberts, and bridesmaid, Sharon Miller, sister of the bride, wore long beige dresses with yellow hats trimmed with beige ribbons. They carried colonial style bouquets of yellow and white daisies filled with baby's breath.

Woods of Belle Glade was best man and Johnny McCloud of South Bay served as groomsmen.

The church was decorated with two white formal bouquets of gladioli and pompons. The choir rail was draped with fern and a pair of white scrolled candelabra intertwined with asparagus fern glowed with candlelight on either side of a white prayer bench.

The reception was held after the ceremony in the banquet room of the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative and Coleen Mills, Cindy Miller, sister of the bride, and Isabel Monti, sister of the groom assisted in serving. Miss Stephanie Miller, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. The brides table was laid with a white floor length cloth, overlaid with yellow sheer organza. A center piece of yellow and white pompons complimented a tiered wedding cake.

The bride wore a beige sun dress and brown shoes for her traveling outfit on the honeymoon to Fort Myers. The couple's residence now is 1135 N.E. 28 St. in Belle Glade.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Glades Central High School. The groom is a 1973 graduate of Adams Education.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Celest Richoux, grandmother of the bride, of Lafayette, Louisiana.

Average U.S. Home May Soon Cost $78,000

The average price of a typical American home could reach the $78,000 mark by the end of 1978, according to a new survey by the National Association of Realtors. The survey, which is based on data from 1977, shows that the average price of a new home is expected to rise from $74,000 in 1977 to $78,000 in 1978. The survey also shows that the average price of an existing home is expected to rise from $68,000 in 1977 to $72,000 in 1978.

Sarasota, and Southern Bell in inter-office telephone systems installed in municipal buildings.

Baker said Edwards is a specialist in anti-trust cases and he recommended employing him at the rate of $70 per hour. The recommendation will be put on Monday's agenda.

The commission also ordered Baker to draw up an ordinance dealing with water tap-in fees specifying "at cost" rates when the tap-in has been done and all the city needs to do is drop in a water meter.

Sewer connections were also discussed with Mayor Altman saying the $50 charge for locating and inspecting a stubout was unreasonable but with city employees arguing that in some cases, city crews spend two days attempting to locate the stubout.

A resolution concerning the appointments to the Citizen's Planning and Advisory Committee will be drawn up and new members named.

wouldn't result in the savings which would be realized by curbside pickup but it might prove to be an alternative acceptable to everyone.

Altman joined Sigmon in saying neither the city staff nor the commissioners have made up their minds yet about the proposed system but said he did think other people should keep an open mind on the subject.

James "Candyman" Smith said he is generally opposed to the idea but said he was keeping an open mind and Sandy Hymeman, the only other committee member present, said he is leaning toward the new system.

In another discussion, Sigmon brought the two committee members up to date on the possible carcinogenic chemicals in the city water system and what is being done about it.

Sigmon said tests have shown the chemicals are in the water but no one knows what could be considered an unsafe level and, in any case, no one knows how to get rid of them.

He went on to say the city has been working for some time to move the city's water intake to get better water and Smith said he might consider comparing the purity of water systems in other towns on the lake to see what further can be done.

Altman criticized certain unnamed committee members, saying the committee was an advisory board and members did not need to use their positions on the committee "as a platform" to criticize the city officials, staff, or personnel because the recommendations were not always carried out.

Glades Central APL scores are better but still worst in county

BELLE GLADE—A total of 47 members of the 1978 Glades Central High School class will be receiving certificates of attendance instead of diplomas Friday when the first class affected by the Adult Performance Level (APL) test holds annual graduation exercises at the Rinker football stadium.

When he released the figures for the APL last week, however, School Superintendent Joseph Carroll pointed out that if Glades Central had the highest failure rate overall in the county when the figures were broken down ethnically, the Belle Glade students came out better than five other schools in the 13-school system.

The worst failure rate in the county for black students taking the test was at Jupiter, where 40.9 percent of the black student population failed the APL, a minimum competency test designed by the county to see whether the graduating senior can function in today's society.

The 47 Glades Central students who are receiving certificates of attendance represents 22 percent of the class of 217 but other figures released by the school board indicate 70 of 254 students who took the test failed it.

The other figures are listed on another chart which breaks down the results by black and white students and then gives totals. The total figures given for each school on that chart don't match the breakdown figures and neither of those figures match the figures given on the number and percent of students who will be given diplomas and certificates of attendance.

Dr. Robert Pickens, in charge of testing for the county school system noted that the total figures, which reflect a 26.8 percent failure rate at Glades Central, represents students who may have dropped out or transferred out of the system.

Dr. Pickens didn't say whether the breakdown figures fall into that category or not. According to the breakdown figures, 152 of the 217 black students at Glades Central who took the test passed while 65 failed. Of the 29 white students who took the test, two failed and 27 passed.

Of the total number of students shown on the same chart, however,

Borer talk is June 14

BELLE GLADE—A seminar on surveying the extent of sugar cane borer populations will be held at 9 a.m. June 14 in the conference room at the Agricultural Research and Education Center according to Palm Beach County Extension Agent Kenneth D. Shuler.

Shuler said the program will begin with an orientation session in the conference room where there will be brief presentations on the objectives of borer population monitoring, economics involved, field identification of the pest and techniques of monitoring.

The group will then go to a commercial field and practice making counts under the guidance of persons experienced in making sugarcane borer surveys.

Emphasis will be placed on systematic methods of field sampling for determining if and when chemical control is needed.

264 students took the test with 194 passing and 70 failing.

Still another chart indicates that of nine participants taking the test at Glades Central for academic honors, none passed. Those nine students, according to a notation, are those who prequalified for the Diploma with Academic Honors by successfully participating in the CLEP or Faculty Scholars Program.

Glades Central was the only school in the county which had no passing grades posted in the Academic Honors testing.
